A GOOD TIME COMING

Business Reviving All Over The Country.

LET THE GOOD WORK CONTINUE

Various Parts of the Country Send in Reports Regarding the Revival of Industries and at the Same Time of the Hiring of More Employees.

Pittsburg, November 9.—The Star Tin Plate works, located on Twelth street, Pittsburg, which have been running half time, started up in full with two additional mills this morning, giving employment to 100 skilled workmen. The Oliver Iron and Steel company will start its plant full on Wednesday morning, employing 600 men.

The Clinton Furnace company, located on the South Side, will start up in full tomorrow, giving work to 300 men.

The Westinghouse electric company which has been running but five days a week, to day started on a six-day schedule giving one more day's work to 2,000 men.

The Carnegie company has closed the Edgar Thompson steel works for repairs and additions. Work will be resumed on Thursday with 3,000 men.

Harrisburg, November 9.—Colonel John Motter is in receipt of a letter from his brother, Philip Motter, who is one of the members of a firm operating a big tin plate and glass plant at Anderson, Ind. In the letter Mr. Motter states that since the election the firm has contracted for some $300,000 worth of tin plate and also expects to start its glass plant at once Mr. Motter resides at Marion, Ind, and predicts an astonishing revival in the business world now that McKinley has triumphed.

Saratoga, N. Y., 9,—As a result of the election various mills throughout the country, which are been closed for some time resumed operation on full time.

Woonsocket, R. I., November 9. —The American ax works at East Douglass, Mass., a part of which has been idle for several weeks, will start up in full November 16.

Newburgh, N. Y., November 9,—The Firth carpet mills at Cornwall, which have been running on three-fourths time, started up this morning on full time. It is stated that all the employes who were laid off during the dull times will be taken back.

Meadville, Pa., November 9.—The Erie railroad car shops in this city started running on full time to-day. The road expects a big increase in freight traffic on account of the revival of business.

Lyons, N. Y., November 9—The Manhattan Silver Plate company which during the past summer has been running on irregular time, commenced running to-day over time. President Thomas says orders were received conditioned upon the result of the election and since then letters and telegrams have been received renewing the orders. Salesmen report a great picking up in trade and the company's branch agencies in New York, Chicago, St. Louis, New Orleans and San Francisco are running in telegraphic orders for more goods.

The New Haven Silver Plate company's plant has been shut down since February last. It is now running on full time with enough orders to last until January and if more comes in they will be compelled to work day and night.

A. H. Towar & Co.'s silver plating works has received a large batch of orders and a full force is at work.

Ashland, Ky., November 9. —The Ironton Fire Brick works and the Parker & Austin Fire Brick works, both located a Coal Grove, opposite, here have resumed operations. The Ashland Steel company's plant and the Norton Nail works are both actively engaged in preparations for resuming work. A dispatch from Utonega, Va., says that the Virginia Coal and Iron company has new coke ovens.

The Bellefonte glass plant, which has been idle the past five years, is to be blown in. All arrangements are completed for starting one furnace of six and repairs will at once be made to begin operation by November 20.

—At the close of the performance Tuesday night, Professor Day tendered a banquet at the Garman House to the young men who so kindly went on the stage and acted as subjects for him during his engagement here. All the delicacies of the season were served and recitations and songs enlivened the occasion. It was entirely unexpected by the boys, and they enjoyed themselves immensely, and were loud in their praise of the Professor for his kindness.

Scrofula Sore Cured.

In the Spring of 1890 a large lump appeared on the right side of my boy's neck. It grew larger until we became alarmed about it and consulted a physician. Various remedies were tried without avail. In May 1891 I purchased a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and the boy began taking it, and in a short time the sore began to heal and finally it disappeared altogether.

THE VENEZUELA DISPUTE

Papers Leading to a Proposed Treaty May Soon be Signed.

GETTING MATTERS INTO SHAPE

Some Days Further Likely to be Required to Arrange Details as to Time and Place of Meeting of the Tribunal.

Washington, November 10.—Every indication points to the probability that within the next fifteen or twenty days Sir Julian Pauncefot and Secretary Olney plenipotentiaries appointed for that purpose by their respective goverments, may be able to sign here in Washington the protocol of a proposed treaty to be subsequently submitted to their respective goverments for approval, which will include within its provisions a method of arbitration the boundary line between Venezuela and British Guiana.

The exact terms of this important convention are not yet definitely settled—far less signed. On the contrary, verbal changes are continually being suggested and agreed upon, or modified by cable messages between the plenipotentiaries and the British foreign office. But that the essential basis of the treaty has been agreed upon is made clear in the correspondence which Secretary Olney this afternoon felt justified in making public after Lord Salisbury's significent speech at the London Mansion house last night. The basis agreed upon is that in "the settled districts," a term of sixty years (or two generations) of undisturbed residence shall be considered as giving the right to posession.

The acceptance of this condition by Great Britian is regarded as a district concession, inasmuch as it brings under the award of the arbitration tribunal (which is to consist of five disinterested persons, not citizens of any American state) all the districts which have been settled since the celebrated Schomburgh line was drawn in 1840.

It may take some days further to arrange details as to the time and place of meeting of the tribunal and as to the selection of the arbitrators, but there is every reason to believe that the president may be able to announce to congress when it meets in December next the signing of the preliminary protocol and to submit to the senate for ratification.

That this is a strong probability is made clear by the announcement authorized by the Venezuelan commission this afternoon that it will suspend the preparation of its report for the present, but will proceed with the compilation of the important data it has collected.

How It Happened.

"Great Scott!" exclaimed the young man from the city, who was inclined to be critical. "How terribly cross-eyed that half grown son of Farmer Whetrock is. He is certainly the worst case I ever saw. He looks as if one eye was looking regretfully back to last Fourth of July, while the other was looking forward to Christmas. What an unfortunate thing to have been born so?"

"Oh, he wasn't born that way," replied Farmer Hornbeak. "One time, when the boy was about nine years old, his father took him out in the woods, and they saw a big gray squirrel up in a tree an' a chipmunk friskin' around some distance on one side. The old man told the boy to stand perfectly still an', keep his eyes fixed on both of them while he went back to the house for his gun. The boy obeyed orders so faithfully that by the time his father got back his eyes were twisted clear out of their bias, an' they've stayed that way ever since."

The Companion Calendar.

It is said that the expense of making the Companion Art Calendar for 1897 was so great that had it been published in the usual quantity it could not be sold for less than one dollar. Four beautiful female figures are reproduced on four folding pages. Each figure is lithographed in twelve colors, being a true reproduction of the original water color painting, which was selected because of its excellence of design and charm of color and tone. The size of each of the four folding pages in 10½ by 6 inches.

It is by far the best piece of color work the Companion has ever offered. Both as a calendar and as a gem of the lithographer's art it is so attractive that it becomes a valuable addition to the mantel or centre table of any room. It is given free to all new subscribers sending $1.75 to the Companion for the year 1897, who receive also the paper free from the time the subscription is received till January 1, 1897.

Celebrating in 1897 its 71st birth day the Companion offers its readers many exceptionally brilliant features. Fully 200 of the most famous men and women of both continents have contributed to the next year's volume of the paper. Callers on McKinley.

Canton, O., Nov. 10.—Governor-elect Pingree, of Michigan, came from Detroit to-day to see the president elect. Indidentally he had something to say about the availability of General Alger for a cabinet appointment, saying to several persons that he did not think public sentiment in Michigan was very much aroused in behalf of the ex-governor.

The members of the Union Medical Association, of Northeastern Ohio, called in a body on Major McKinley this evening and were very cordially greeted by him. Most of the other callers were people who had been actively engaged in various forms of campaign work.

Major McKinley expects to leave on Thursday for a week's visit with Colonel Myron P. Herrick.

A personal friend of Chancey M. Depew in this city says that he has Mr. Depew's word for it that he would not accept a position in the cabinet if it were offered him and that he has no more desire to be secretary of state now than he had when he declined the appointment under President Harrison.

For Thanksgiving.

Truly, we have reason to be thankful: Mother Earth has reflected the goodness of our Heavenly Father in golden fruits and gladdening harvests. Soil and sky, winds and waves, frosts and rains, have been auspicious. Sorrow has been but a passing shadow to remind us of the more continuing sunshine. Temporary adversity has made us more considerate of the prosperity that comes and goes at the command of a higher power than ours. Silent voices sadden us, but new voices just as sweet cheer our way. The bonds of brotherhood are stronger, the milk of human kindness sweeter and the advancement of civilization greater than ever before.

Therefore, in view of distresses healed, sorrows assuaged, dangers averted, and of joys bestowed, blessings multiplied, promises given and prospects brightened, let us kindle again our altar fires and sing anew our song of praise!

Pensions Granted.

The following pensions have been lately granted through the agency of W. H. Musser of Bellefonte, Pa.:

October 26, to Mrs. Mary A. Rhue of Boggs township.

November 2, to John Stover of Benner township.

November 3, to A. S. Smith of Milesburg.

GIRLS TORTURED FOR A BET

Fiery-Eyed Ghosts Leered at Them in a Haunted House.

FOOLISH RESULT OF A WAGER

Becoming Hysterical, One of the Misses Ran Through the Night Into the Deep Recesses of the Forest—Shrieks for Help Got None.

Coudersport, Nov. 11.—As a result of a foolhardy election wager, 20 year-old Mary Kramer, of Hebron township this county, is very ill. She was one of a quartet of young women which grew enthusiastic over the late presidential election She and Maud Michaels, both of whom were Bryan supporters, agreed with Ruth Knox and Lillian Chrysman, McKinley girls, that upon the event of their favorite candidates being defeated, they should remain in an old lumber shanty, several miles in the woods over night. This lumber shanty has an uncanny reputation as the country folks thereabouts declare that curious sounds and strange lights have been seen there at night.

Having lost their wager, Misses Kramer and Michaels last Thursday night prepared to suffer the penance. They pleaded for the privilege of a male escort, but the other girls would not grant this. They, however, permitted the girls to take with them a dog as company.

At midnight the McKinley girls, accompanied by their beaux, stole in a roundabout way to the old house. There was no sound about the place neither were there any lights in the windows. The tricksters were armed with jack-o-lanterns cut from pumpkins, with horrible caricature faces. From the eyes, nose and mouth there glared a fiery tongue. These they stood at the windows and then the young men crawled onto the roof of the house and pelted stones down the chimney hole.

This set the dog to barking, and when the two girls awoke and beheld the horrible faces gazing at them through the window they screamed at the top of their voices. Miss Kramer, who became hysterical, rushed from the rear door and started for the dark forest on the mountain. Miss Michaels, unable through fright to leave the shanty, sank to the floor in a swoon. Her dog attacked the young men, and it required considerable coaxing before they were permitted by the brute to descend to the ground.

By this time the girls on the outside were as much alarmed as the other two were frightened and they hastened indoors to explain. There they found Miss Michaels unconscious. When they discovered the manner of exit taken by Miss Kramer the young men gathering fagots for torches hurried in the direction which the girl had taken. They called repeatedly, but it was fully an hour before they found the poor creature. She had heard them call her name, and from behind a big rock, where she took refuge she answered. Miss Kramer was trembling like an aspen leaf, and although she tried to laugh with the rest the attempt was a miserable failure. That night after reaching home she again became delirious and called piteously for somebody to take away those hideous ghosts. Although somewhat improved, the girl it is feared, has suffered a shock to her nervous system.

He'll Stick to his Bet.

The Philadelphia Record gives the following account of an election bet made by a Williamsport man: One of the most jubilant men in town is George Ledlie the well known contractor. Several days before election he made an odd bet with John Kelly of Williamsport, and the result had even exceeded his fond expectations. It seems rash, but Mr. Ledlie bet Mr. Kelley $100 to $1 that McKinley would carry New York and Pensylvania by 400,000 plurality, provided that Mr. Kelley would be willing to pay 1 cent for every vote exceeding that figure. The bet was made, Mr. Ledlie putting up his hundred and placing his dollar in the hands of the stakeholder. At 5 o'clock last Wednesday morning Mr. Ledlie's door bell rang and a messenger boy appeared with a telegram from Mr. Kelley, which read: "Will give you $250 to call the bet off." Mr. Ledlie hastily scribbled a reply which tersely said: "Not on your life." There is every probability that the plurality in the states will reach 600,000 in which event Mr. Kelley stands to lose 200,000 cents or $2,000.

There is a woman in Kansas City who keeps a saw-filing shop, having inherited the business from her husband. Her sign reads: "Mrs Murphy Saw Dentist."

HIS PUNISHMENT.

BY M. V. THOMAS.

A landlord had built him great houses,
With roofs that encroached on the sky,
Then advertised for tenants, saying,
Those who have children need not apply

So at last this landlord was punished,
For he dreamed he was carried away,
To a land infested with grumblers.
Where children had never held sway.

There never had been any children,
The people had always been grown,
The merry prattle of children
Had never—no never—been known.

And there these old people were living
Bereft of life's dearest joy,
Not one had the pleasure of saying
"I mind when I was a boy."

Heroic Deed of a Tramp.

Washington, Ind., Nov. 10.—A ragged tramp named G. D. Bynum proved himself a hero last night and by his act of bravery saved a fast express train and many lives from disaster. Bynum overheard a gang of men in a box car plotting to wreck the west bound St. Louis express on the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern railway in a lonely stretch of country east of this city. The express car, it is reported, contained a large amount of money. A heavy charge of nitro glycerine and dynamite was placed upon the track in such a manner that it would explode when struck by the engine. He said nothing about the matter, fearing the police would think him crazy. He had no way to signal the train, which he knew would be due in a short time. It was some distance to the nearest switch, but he made his way there and jerked off the signal light. Then he went to the place where the alleged dynamite was placed. His signal was seen by the approaching train in time. The train wreckers, who were in ambush, seen the signal, and a revolver was fired at the tramp. He was wounded in the leg and a shot through his hat grazed his head. After the explosives were removed from the track the train came to this city, bringing the wounded tramp. The 200 people who were on the train crowded about him and praised him for his brave deed. Later a subscription was taken up for his benefit.

Bynum's home is in Baltimore. The Washington police are working on the theory that he was one of the gang of robbers, but that as the train approached his heart failed him and he gave the warning signal to the engineer. As he did so his confederates shot at him, the police think.

A Pointer.

Here's a pointer for the local board of education. The school board of Hornersville, N. Y., has authorized the superintendent of the city schools to introduce into the schools a complete system of eye testing, the work to be done by the teachers, who are to be instructed in the use of the necessary charts. All cases of defective vision are to be reported to the parents, in order that by prompt attention much harm and discomfort may be avoided. Often a pupil is accounted stupid or obstinate when the whole trouble rests on his inability to see the blackboard work clearly. The expense of the undertaking is insignificant and much good is hoped for.

Things Tersely Said.

The man is happy whose circumstances suit his temper; but he who can suit his temper to his circumstances is more praiseworthy.

The light which we have gained was given us, not to be forever staring on but by it to discover onward things.

You may depend upon it that he is a good man whose intimate friends are all good and whose enemies are characters decidedly bad.

The art of making paper from fibrous matter reduced to a pulp in water appears to have been discovered by the Chinese about eighteen hundred years ago.

OUR BEST CUSTOMER.

How well I remember the day our best customer first came into the tiny shop where I sold pins and "notions" of every kind to support myself and dear old mother, who was paralyzed and helpless. She could use her hands, but her feet were so stiff that she could scarcely hobble with my help, to the chair from the bed, or back again.

"The profits of the business were small and my brother Frank, who had been studying medicine before father died, earned only a small pittance, and so we struggled on, starving ourselves to keep out of debt, and perpetually tugging at the ends that would not meet. As soon as mother was able to sit up in an arm chair, she began to knit for the store pretty infant socks, tidies, trimmings of various kinds, and all sorts of pretty fancy articles, and it was a pincushion top that attracted Miss Mitchell.

"She came into the store one winter's day, when I had been crying softly behind the counter, and it was as if the sunlight had streamed into the place, with our best customer.

"Her face was indescribably lovely, with the most beautiful dark eyes I ever saw, and I caught the glance of compassion that rested on my tear swollen face and softened her own to such tender sweetness as I had never before seen. She made no comment, asked no questions but one quick glance about the store seemed to tell her the whole pitiful story of poverty and struggle. She bought the pincushion top and ordered two more, only, as they were to be finer, larger and more trouble she would expect to pay double.

"Only a few dollars were needed to make up the month's rent, but it was the apparent impossibility of having them ready that day that caused my tears. My new customer bought tape, buttons, ribbons, pins, cotton—everything her quick, bright eyes rested upon, until a formidable pile was heaped on the counter.

"'If you will let these things stay here for an hour or two,' she said, 'I will call again for them. Mamma is at the dressmaker's on the next street and I was passing to make a purchase at the drug store on the corner, when I saw this exquisite piece of knitting. How can you manage such fine cotton?

"I told her then about mother, and her soft, dark eyes were full of sympathy as she listened. An hour or two later a very handsome carriage drove up to the door, and she called for her purchase.

"In a few days she came again, buying as before freely, and leaving another order for knitting so that my spare moments were filled, too, with work! Little by little she became friendly and she made an excuse to see mother by ordering some work for which she wished to leave special directions. After that she always ran upstairs for a few moments to brighten the day for mother.

"We knew very little about her except her name; but with all her bright sweetness, her apparently large wealth, I was sure she had some sorrow in her life. It was not natural for one so bright and young to be so sympathetic unless she had some grief or anxiety herself.

"In a long year that she was our customer I learned to love her as I loved no one else but my mother and brother. It was winter weather again, when one evening, as I was closing the shop, a little figure, in a close, dark ulster crept in, shivering with cold or distress, she sat down upon the one stool the shop boasted and lifting a brown veil, showed me the face of our best customer, white as death, the great brown eyes dilated with some sorrow, too deep for tears, the sweet, sensitive mouth quivering.

"'Miss Donaldson,' she whispered, "will you hide me for the night. Will you let me stay here?"

"'Gladly,' I said. "But oh, my dear, what is it?"

I was only a few years older than herself, but in her distress she seemed such a child that I could not resist the temptation to take her in my arms, kiss her, and try in my poor way to comfort her. And when the tears came and she sobbed and clung to me as a child to her mother I was sure the crying helped her poor, sore heart, and did not try to check it.

"Mother was asleep, and I made a bed on a wide lounge in our little sitting room for Miss Mitchell. Before she lay down she said to me:

"I have left my home, and I cannot return. Will you shelter me and hide me for a few days until I can find employment by which to earn my bread? And will you do this asking no questions, but believeing me when I tell you I have done nothing wrong, nothing that would make your mother deny me the friendship of her child?

"Very solemnly, even as she spoke I made answer.

"While I had a roof or a crust I will share them with you as with a dearly loved sister.

And no sister would have been more to me than Nettie Mitchell became as the days passed that followed that winter evening. She had some money, and she asked me to buy her necessary clothing and the additional furniture that was needed to furnish a tiny room we had used for lumber into a bedroom.

Then I taught her what I had learned of housework; and while she insisted upon paying a third of our expenses, she took care of mother and shared in every detail of cooking and cleaning. With some difficulty I procured embroidery for her and she went out after dark, heavily veiled, to carry home her work and bring back a fresh supply.

"But it gave her a pleasure that, although she would not go out except as I have said, her being with mother gave me greater freedom. Especially on Sunday when Frank came, I could go with him to church, and, after dinner for a walk

"Yes, it was not long before I saw that the day time passed more slowly for my brother than the evening, when Nettie Mitchell, with her low sweet voice, her merry jests, her bright animation, made the hours fly past, and gave to our quiet room an added charm for Frank. He told her more than he had ever told us of his hope to one day take up his profession and of the study he crowded into all his leisure hours. She had that rare sympathetic interest, as far removed from curiosity as it was from indifference, that won confidence from every one with whom she came in contact. And with his confidence she won his love.

"I, who loved him so dearly, soon read that secret, and the hopeless longing pain it caused. Paupers, all as he once bitterly exclaimed, working ceaselessly for mere food and shelter, what had we to do with love and hope, and bright dreams of marriage!

It gave me keen pain to see that Nettie did not discourage Frank's love though she must have known its utter hopelessness. Ever her sweetest smile was for his greeting, her merriest jest to win his smile, her closest attention given to his confidence. And when I timidly spoke to her she closed my lips with a kiss.

"May I not love him" she whispered. "Will you not trust your brother to me?"

And I, fearing she read some doubt in my hesitation, earnestly assured her that I could not imagine a brighter fate for my brother than to win such love as hers.

"Only," I said tearfully, "it seems so hopeless. How can Frank marry burdened as he is?"

"Hope, Jessie?" she said brightly, "I am a fortune teller, but not a gipsy. I foresee that when Frank marries his burdens will be lifted."

"But how?"

"Oracles never answer a second question," she said, laughing merrily.

And so, when the words that could not be restrained, broke from Frank's lips, and in spite of his poverty he told his love, she gave him softly the answer his heart craved.

"How could I deny my love, Jessie?" she said to me, "knowing I am penniless and hiding. He does not know but I have fled from the consequences of some crime. And he loves me? So true a son, so fond a brother, must be a good man. Some day, when he is a great physician, and we live in grandeur, we will laugh to recollect rice pudding without eggs, and rye coffee, in the little room over the store."

Then she told me that the wedding day was set, and on the twentieth of June she would be my sister.

"Trust me, Jessie. All will be well, dear."

As the time drew near she became gay as she had never been before, making the hours fly for mother, working with restless fingers, breaking into snatches of song.

On the morning of the wedding day she left us promising to return at the appointed hour. For several days she had gone out for hours together closely veiled, always coming in with her face full of soft sweet happiness. Not a fear or doubt crossed my mind, for no guilty eyes could have held always the cheerful brightness of Nettie Mitchell's. The fear and grief that had driven her to me for shelter had left her long before the June day when she drove up to my door in the carriage I recognized at once, and walked into the store, richly dressed as of old.

Frank's eyes spoke his amazement but she gave him no opportunity to speak, chatting in quiet pleasure as we drove to church. There was no crowd of friends to meet us, but after the ceremony an elderly lady leaning on the arm of a much younger man, advanced to meet us.

"You have chosen your own willful way," she said coldly, "and I have no power to check you."

"None," Nettie said gently, "so I thank you, mother, for coming here."

"Then she introduced them—her mother and her stepfather—and at the door they left her. From the church we drove to a large brownstone house on a wide street. My first gasp of amazement was for the sign under the window—'Dr. Frank Donaldson.' Then, in a large, beautiful room, sat mother and Nettie, opening a door, said:

"And this is your bedroom and her's, Jessie. All your treasures are here, dear, dear little sister. Welcome home."

Then, turning to Frank, she told us her story. Her father had left her wealthy, but she could not control her money until she was of age. Her mother had married a man who had determined to win Nettie's money for his brother, and had compelled her mother to commence a system of persecution to gain the girl's consent, trying to force her into marriage. She had escaped, to come to us, and the rest we know. On the first of June she was 21, and taking her trustees into her confidence, she had bought and furnished her house, our happy home.

Glass Works Will Soon Start.

It is five years the coming Christmas since the Glass Works, one of Bellefonte's best industries, closed down. It is with pleasure that the DAILY NEWS is able to state that within the next three weeks they will be again in operation.

It is true it will be on a small scale at first, but with every prospect that it will grow until it takes its place as one of the largest and most profitable industries in Bellefonte. It will be operated by a cooperative company composed mainly of practical and experienced glassmakers, who thoroughly understand their business and heartily deserve the encouragement which the citizens of Bellefonte have so generously given them. All but $85.00 of a subscription of $3,000 has been raised and this balance will be forthcoming within a few days.

It will take about three weeks to get ready to start, as a new roof will be required on part of the building and a new boiler will have to be built.

When started four pots will be put in operation and 27 men will be given employment. We will be able to publish a list of officers in a day or two, when everything will be settled definitely. The boys are all Bellefonters and the DAILY NEWS congratulates them on their enterprise and wishes them much success.

Do You Want to be a Martyr?

Probably not! But if you do, try and get the dyspepsia by unwise feeding. Then you'll suffer martyrdom with a vengeance! Some people are martyrs to this complaint from childhood to the grave, suffering from all its attending horrors of heartburn, wind and pain in the stomach, weary slumber and nightmare, capricious appetite, nausea, biliousness, leanness and sallowness. No necessity for all this. The complaint obstinate as it is, when the ordinary remedies are brought to bear upon it, invariably yield to the great stomachic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which restores tranquillity to the gastric region and nerves, regulates the liver and bowels both of which are disturbed by weakness of the stomach, and promotes appetite and an increase of flesh. That "tocsin of the soul," the dinner bell, when it peals upon the ear, suggests no premonition of dire qualms after a comfortable meal if you have tried a course of the Bitters, which also banishes biliousness rheumatism, nervousness, malaria and kidney trouble.

Great Activity Noticeable.

Pittsburg, November 8—Greater activity is apparent in the industrial institutions since Wednesday than in any time during the year. Every mill and workshop in Pittsburg is operating more actively or is preparing to start Monday. A number of departments which have been idle or operated spasmodically since the summer shut down, will be in operation next week. The only industry which has not yet felt the thrill of reviving confidence is window glass. Activity in this line is delayed because of the inability of the workers and manufacturers to agree on the wage scale It is thought a conference will be called soon and that an agreement will be arrived at.

James McCrea, vice president of the Pennsylvania lines said to-day that railroads are preparing to carry out plans for betterments which have been held back for several months, and doubtless contracts aggregating large sums in value will be let shortly for extensions bridges and supplies.

AS TO PENNSYLVANIA.

McKinleys' Plurality is Now Settled at Less Than 300,000.

Philadelphia, Nov. 6.—The United Associated Presses has now received the figures which are missing in Friday morning's table by counties—Pennsylvania. This completes the returns from every county in the state and shows the total vote to be as follows:

McKinley, republican, 720,971; Bryan, democrat, 423,966; Levering, prohibition, 18,265; Palmer, Jeffersonian, 10,921. McKinley's plurality 297,005.

For congress-at-large: Grow, republican, 703,433; Davenport, republican, 700,810; DeWitt, democrat, 410,071; Aikman, democrat and people's, 412,209.

The republicans elect twenty-seven congressmen including congressmen at large, and the democrats three. The democrats are William McAleer, gold democrat, Third district; Daniel Ermentrout, Ninth district, and George J. Benner, Nineteenth district. The delegation to the present congress is composed of twenty-eight republicans and two democrats.

The new legislature which will elect a United States senator to succeed J. Donald Cameron, whose term will expire March 4, 1897, is divided politically as follows. Senate—Republicans 44, democrats 6. House—Republicans 170, democrats 34. Republican majority on joint ballot, 174

FIRE AT JACKSONVILLE.

A Young Girl Supposed to Have Perished in the Flames.

A very disastrous fire occurred yesterday afternoon about 1 o'clock at Jacksonville, this county.

The house, barn and all the outbuildings belonging to John Dolan, a poor but hard working farmer, together with all their contents consisting of household furniture, farm implements, two horses and two cows were entirely destroyed. All the poor farmer's winter supply of potatoes, amounting to about 300 bushels, also, 350 bushels of corn were lost. But this is not the worst, for Mr. Dolan's youngest child is supposed to have perished in the flames.

The origin of the fire is entirely unknown. Mrs. Dolan, with two of her daughters, went to visit a neighbor and left one of the daughters to wash the dinner dishes. Mr. Dolan, who is well up in years, went up stairs to take an after-dinner nap. Shortly after he smelled smoke, and looking around him he found himself surrounded by flames. Escape by the doors was cut off and, old man as he is, he was compelled to jump from a second-story window to save his life.

Nothing has been seen or heard of the daughter who was left to wash the dishes. Diligent search and inquiry have been made for miles around, but no trace of her can be found, and the fear is steadily growing that the girl was burned to death.

It is a total loss to Mr. Dolan, as he had no insurance whatever, and as he is a poor man it will be a terrible blow to him.

Mr. Dolan is a brother of James Dolan and Susan Dolan of this place, and of Matt. Dolan of Philipsburg.

We are indebted for the above facts to Mr. Roger Bayard who, accompanied by Newlin Irvin, spent Sunday with Mr. Allie Irvin at Jacksonville. They also stated that there was a strong wind blowing and the fire burned with incredible rapidity, and before any assistance could reach the doomed property everything was in ashes.

Report on Temperance.

At the recent meeting of the Huntingdon Presbytery at Waterloo, Juniata Co., the committee on Temperance made the following report which was adopted.

When Barnabas went to Antioch he saw both the evil and the good. He saw the wickedness of the city and the triumphs of divine grace. So we, looking over the territory included in the Presbytery, see on one hand the desolation caused by the liquor traffic, and on the other the victories which have followed the well directed efforts of those who are now working in the interest of the Temperance cause. While we regret the lack of unity among Christians who desire to check the evils of intemperance we can truly adopt the words of "The Wine and Spirit Gazette," namely, "There is every where a growing prejudice against the liquor traffic."

We are able to report:—

1. Increased interest in Temperance education. Our public schools with few exceptions are teaching the effects of alcohol upon the human system; and very many Sabbath schools and societies are moving along the same line.

2. We report the efforts of Christian people to restrict the sale of intoxicants by presenting remonstrances against the granting of licenses, and we notice with pleasure the success which has attended their efforts.

We are not able to report a general increasing interest in the General Assembly Permanent Committee on Temperance, nor can we mention a zeal in any direction commensurate with the importance of the work.

Your committee would recommend for adoption the following:

1. That a Permanent Committee on Temperance be appointed in every congregation according to the direction of the the General Assembly, said committees to direct the energy of the church against intemperance and report to the Presbyterian committee once every year.

2. That the Officers and Teachers of our Sabbath schools give special attention to the Temperance lessons and do all in their power to teach the rising generation the true principles of Gospel Temperance.

3. That our churches observe Temperance Day (3rd Sabbath in November) recommended by the General Assembly.

4. That this Presbytery heartily endorses the work done in the Temperance cause by the W. C. T. U., and by the women of the Presbyterian church.

5. The Presbytery condemns the action of church members who sign applications to sell fermented or distilled liquors.

R. M. CAMPBELL,
Chairman of Committee.

Funeral of Mrs. Mary Robbins.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Robbins took place Saturday morning at eleven o'clock, from the residence of H. H. Schreyer, on the corner of Allegheny and Howard streets. There was a large attendance of sorrowing friends and relatives and the floral offerings were very beautiful. The services were conducted by Rev. Theodore Faus of Spring Mills assisted by Rev. J. W. Rue of this place. The pall-bearers were H. H. Harshberger, E. R. Chambers, Fearon Mann and F. W. Crider. Interment in the Union Cemetery.

going to school

Do the children go to school? And are they joyous and happy? Is school-life a pleasure? And is progress being made? Or is the opposite true? Does the close of each day bring a headache? There is no appetite and sleep is imperfect. The color gradually leaves the cheeks and only a little effort is followed by exhaustion. To continue school means to come to the end of the year with broken health. What is the best thing to do? Take

How Will Responsibility Affect women.

Mr. Lecky, in his valuable work on "Democracy and Liberty," finds one source of danger in the increasing influence of women in politics. He thinks their tendency, in trying to reform the world, would be to over-legislation. They have thrown themselves, for instance, into the question of temperance, in such a way as to "considerably alter its prospects." And the same is true of vivisection, which they are disposed not only to guard, but to abolish, thus dooming thousands of human beings to an untold amount of preventible suffering. "There have been," he says, "ages in which insensibility to suffering was the prevailing vice of public opinion; in our own, perhaps, more is to be feared from wild gusts of unreasoning, uncalculating, hysterical emotion."

I think that common fairness compels us to acknowledge the at least partial truth of these opinions. Because wome are by nature more compassionate, because in their more domestic lives, they see so distinctly the immediate results of intemperance, of immorality, of cruelty, they are more likely to be tempted, (until they learn its futility), to over-legislation and over-coercion, to sweeping the whole world clean of sin and error by one grand whisk of the broom of the law. When it comes to the "wild gusts of emotion,", however, I doubt if we could much exaggerate the methods of our brothers: their little ways at a nominating convention, for instance, where the correct thing is for the delegates to climb on chairs and tables, to screech, to howl, to roar, to break into sobs to embrace each other etc, by way of expressing their political opinions, and not about any question which could be called ethical either. Our doings could scarcely be more hysterical than those in the bedlam of any city Brouse; and we should find it hard to be more uncalculating than was our congress a short time ago on receiving the message of the president concerning Venezuela, when, without pausing to consider consequences, without stopping to compare the unimportance of the issue with the awful results of a possible war, they set to work on their resolutions of approval, which were to give the cue to a nation, with the glee of a parcel of children starting a fire.

The fact is, we would do better to say that unreasoningness is the tendency of the human race, and then we can afford to admit that the feminine half, from the difference of the conditions in which it has been reared, and from that absence of responsibility which always makes people more reckless in the expression of opinions have been thus far even more disposed than men to speak without consideration. Make every woman responsible, let her realize that when she says a man ought to be hung she is helping to hang him, and that when she advocates a war she is helping to send the men to the field, and after the first wantonness of power, especially of the supposed power to legislate sin and suffering out of the world, her sense of accountability will steady her. And then it will surely not be amiss that she will bring the humanitarian view of a political question more frequently to the front.

STATE COLLEGE S ACADEMY 2.

A Close Exciting Game of Foot Ball at State College Saturday.

A very interesting game of foot ball wa played at State College between the Sub Freshman and the Bellefonte Academy last Saturday although two of the first team men of the College played with the Subs, and fully expected to have a regular snap with the Academy boys, and not allow them to score, but yet contrary to their expectations the Academy scored two points against them. The game was called at 3.15 P. M. The College made the kick-off and the Academy advanced the ball a few yards, both teams fought very hard, J. Hughes succeeded in getting the ball and gaining about 20 yards.

The two giant guards of the first team played with the freshman and their quarter back used these men to rush the ball through the line most of the time, but they did not gain as much as they expected, although they weighed upwards of 186 lbs.

The Academy boys were down across their goal line, when Hastings went to kick the ball on the third down it was blocked, he fell on it and this counted a safety for two points for the College. It is was the only score they made during the first half at the beginning of the second half the Academy made the kick off, the College advanced the ball a good many yards and after a few downs on on both sides, Davids succeeded in making a touch down, after a long run. Thompson kicked a goal. Again Academy made the kick off and the College rushed it up the field again, but then the Academy boys fired up their blood and rushed their opponants down the field, to within a few yards of the goal, when Hastings by a long kick put it within a yard of the goal line. Fortney got the ball and was downed by Harris over the goal line This counted a safety for the Academy. A few minutes afer this time was called. Although the Academy was defeated, it was not a dishonorable defeat for they were playing against a hard team and as was mentioned before two first team men The line up was as follows.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

A Small Craft Supposed to be Carrying Nitro Glycerine Exploded.

East Liverpool, O., Nov. 6.—A terrific explosion at a point up the river shook buildings along the water front in this city at 10.30 to-night. The first definite news of the accident was brought to the city by the Pittsburg and Wheeling packet, Bedford, which arrived here at 11 o'clock. Her officials reported that a small craft supposed to be carrying nitro glycerine exploded near Georgetown, four miles east of here. The Bedford, which had just passed the point, was lifted out of the water by the force of the explosion, every pane of glass was broken and the furniture in the cabin overturned.

The passengers were panic-stricken for a time. Captain Green's state room was splintered by the shock. He was sleeping at the time and was not hurt. Passengers were thrown to the floor and the bulkheads on the boat were damaged. Georgetown cannot be reached to-night to learn the extent of the damage.

—The first stage line was between New York and Philadelphia, and bimonthly trips were first made in 1730.

MURDER AT ROBERTSDALE

The Victim Was an Italian, Peter Venzelona by Name.

HIS HEAD HAD BEEN CRUSHED IN

Five Men Under Arrest and Now in the Huntingdon County Jail Pending the Result of the Coroner's Inquest—Consequences of a Drunken Orgy.

Altoona Tribune.

Huntingdon, Pa., November 8.—At an early hour this morning a murder was committed at Robertsdale, a mining town forty two miles from here. Coroner Greenberg was notified of the crime this morning about 10 o'clock and at 11 o'clock accompanied by Detective Westbrook and two newspaper representatives. F. F. Fetterhoff and R. K. Miller, started for the scene in a carriage, reaching Robertsdale between 4 and 5 o'clock. The body of the murdered man—an Italian named Peter Venzelona—was lying in the gulch where the unfortunate had fallen after he received the fatal injuries. He presented a sickening sight. The back part of the head was crushed in which indicated that no mercy was intended by the perpetrators. There were ugly bruises on his face and one of his hands indicated that a knife had been brought into play. The hole in the back part of the head which was an awful indentation is what caused death. The position Venzelona lay in from the moment of his death at 2 o'clock this morning, until his removal by the coroner at 2 o'clock this afternoon was not calculated to make the dead man present a pleasant sight. The head was fully inclined two feet and it is likely that the victim was in this position a few moments before death, thus allowing the blood to rush and clot in his head and rendering the face a terrible sight to behold.

The body was removed to the victim's boarding house, where an examination was held by Dr. W. H. Johnson. The inquest proper will be conducted to-morrow. The personal effects found on the dead man consisted of some smoking tobacco, a small amount of money and some minor articles.

Constable Samuel O'Neil, early this morning, arrested Louis, Lawrence, and Daniel Cherry, the latter two being brothers, and Chillan and Alexander Vanance, detained them in the office of 'Squire Jones until they were transferred by rail to Huntingdon this evening, where they will be held pending the inquest.

Louisa Casterman, who acted as interpreter, could get but little information from the prisioners. It seems that the regular Saturday night beer and hard cider drunk was being engaged in and that in an altercation, the origin of which cannot be accounted for, Lawrence Cheras struck Venzelona on the back of the head with an auger bit and several other members of the party finished the job. From rumors afloat it seems there is a woman at the bottom of the affair, and some revelations will be made at tomorrow's investigation. It is also expected that several others who took a prominent part in putting Venzelona "to sleep," as they call it will be arrested at that time. One of the prisoners shed great big tears on the trip from Robersdale to the jail.

HONORING MARK HANNA

The Republican Chairman Banquets with New York Political Leaders.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—A luncheon in honor of Mark A. Hanna was given in the banquet hall in the Equitable building yesterday. The host was Isaac M. Seligman, of the banking house of J. & W. Seligman, and the guests included a number of the most prominent business men and financiers in the city. More than thirty guests sat at the tables. Among those present, besides Mr. Hanna and Mr. Seligman, were ex-Mayor Abram S. Hewitt, Carl Schurz, Seth Low, General Horace Porter, Cornelius N. Bliss and Theodore Roosevelt.

When the time for speaking came Isaac M. Seligman addressed the company briefly upon the situation which led to the gathering. He emphasized the necessity for joint action in the future by the Republicans and National Democrats on currency matters. He then called upon Mr. Hanna, who said that he felt that he was addressing an important body of New York bankers, and he spoke of the general work of the campaign. The present organization of the Republican party, and also of the National Democratic party, he understood, will remain in the field to further the good work so auspiciously begun. Mr. Hanna said also that the new administration would begin its work without any pledges and wholly untrammeled in the selection of a cabinet.

Mr. Hewitt, General Porter, Carl Schurz and several others also spoke.

Two Dead from Asphyxiation.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—Louis Doerfel, aged 67 years, and Bertha Miller, aged 4, were suffocated by gas at the former's home, No. 2747 Darien street, last night. Magdalena Doerfel, the aged wife of the dead man, is hovering between life and death. They were found lying on the floor of the kitchen of the house by a daughter of the old couple when she returned from work, and it is not know how the catastrophe occurred. It is supposed, however, that while Mrs. Doerfel was ironing her dress caught the stopcock of a gas stove in the room and turned on the deadly fluid. Doerfel had practically lost the sense of smell, and his wife was suffering from a violent cold, so that neither could detect the presence of the gas in the room and were unaware of it until they toppled over.

A drowning man would have little use for a method of rescue which require days. A dyspeptic dosen't want to bother with a remedy that is going to take weeks to show its beneficial effects.

The Mount Lebanon Shakers are offering a product under the name of Shaker Digestive Cordial which yields immediate relief. The very first dose proves beneficial in most cases; and it is owing to their unbounded confidence in it, that they have put 10 cent sample on the market. These can be had through any druggists; and it will repay the afflicted to invest the trifling sum neccessary to make a trial.

The Shaker Digestive Cordial relieves by resting the stomach and aiding the digestion of food.

Laxol is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.

Shoplifting Gang Captured.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—After systematically robbing Chicago's big department stores of plunder aggregating $15,000 during a period extending over a year, four members of a gang of shoplifters, hailing from New York, were captured late yesterday afternoon. Detectives searched two flats occupied by the self confessed thieves, and found nearly $1,000 worth of stolen property. Those arrested are: William Scharf, alias Schoeler; Mabel Wallace, alias Minnie Belmont; Harry Bauer, once a Chicago bartender, and Sadie Bauer, his wife. No attempt was ever made by the shoplifters to dispose of their stolen goods in this city. Harry Bauer admitted that most of the "stuff" was shipped to New York and other eastern cities.

Fatal Explosion of Naptha.

WEST UPTON, Mass., Nov. 11.—An explosion of naphtha in a retort used in connection with a water gas plant at the straw factory of William Knowlton & Son, in this town, yesterday afternoon, will result in the loss of three lives. The fatally injured are: Fred G. Bulmahan, superintendent of the Western Water Gas Construction company, of Fort Wayne, Ind., aged 23 years; Thomas Williams, aged 30, of Upton; John Williams, aged 27, of Upton. Charles Nelson, of Upton, and James Salham, of Worcester, were seriously injured. The men were engaged in putting in a water gas plant, when a naptha valve sprung a leak, producing the explosion.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9th, 1896

Had it been possible for the voters to have seen one week before the election the remarkable demonstration of the revival of public confidence which has come from every section of the county since the election of Maj. McKinley, there is no doubt that McKinley and Hobart's popular majority would have been a million greater than it is. Republicans had no doubt that apprehension caused by the fear of those who controlled money that all our standards of value might be upset had done more to paralyze business than any other one thing, and they so told the people from every stump and through the columns of every republican paper. They convinced many, but if the starting up of the idle mills and manufactories and the inauguration of great enterprises involving vast expenditures and the employment of all the unemployed who wish to be employed could have taken place before the election a million more would have been convinced and would have voted for real prosperty instead of for a chimera.

However, it was only by waiting until a restoration of repnblican control, exective and legislative, was absolutely assured that the great business interests of the country, the prosperity of which involves the prosperty of all our people could show to the world the faith felt in the wisdom of the republican partv. The republican who does not feel his heart swell with pride merely to belong to an organization which can inspire such faith must be cold-blooded indeed. The news columns of the press since the election of McKinley and Hobart was announced have by just printing the cold fact about the actual, not prospective, revival in almost every part of the country and in almost the highest tribute of praise to the republican party ever paid to any political organization in any country in the history of the world.

It is now for the republicans to show to the world that this tribute was deserved. No one who is familiar with the life and record of President-elect McKinley and of those of the republicans elected to the fifty third Congress and those holding seats in the Senate can entertain a doubt on that subject. With President McKinley to suggest and Speaker Reed, the republican majority in the House, and the hoped for republican majority in the Senate, to execute, the legislation will be such as will expand and make permanent the business boom which started the hour that republican success was assured, and which will, it is confidently believed continue to grow and grow until the country enjoys a long era of the greatest prosperity in its history. And one of the good things about it will be that the misguided popocrats who tried so hard to prevent republican success will be equal sharers in general prosperity. It ought to make them see things as they really are, instead of as they are represented by demagogues who try to trade upon "hard times" and public credulity.

That some appointments of importance will be tendered to gold democrats for their assistance in the campaign is probably, but I have talked with no republicans who believe that they will include a cabinet position. The diplomatic service offers opportunities. A man has only to be a patriotic American to represent his country satisfactorily abroad, but a member of the Cabinet must be in sympathy with all the policies of the head of the administration under which he serves, or he disarranges machinery which ought to run smoothly to get the best results.

Senator Quay stopped in Washington on his way to Florida, where he will fish and rest until Congress meets, to express the opinion that there was a probability that the House Emergency Tariff Bill, passed at the last session and held up in the Senate by the refusal of some of the republican Silver senators to support it unless a free coinage amendment was attached, might be taken up and passed at the coming session. Senator Quay did not enter into details-he seldom does as to why he thought the bill might be passed. It is supposed that he thinks, as many others do, that the republican silver Senators, seeing the absolute impossibility of securing silver legislation, will vote for the bill which would, if enacted into a law provide the government with revenue enough to make the receipts more than equal the expenditures. While Mr Cleveland has never said that he would sign this bill, the impression is general that he would not veto it. So that if passed by the Senate, it is reasonably certain to become a law.

Will Spain Lose Cuba?

Baltimore, Nov. 11.—Gen Bradley T. Johnson, who recently returned from Cuba, says that he believes the insurgents will eventually win, possibly within 8 months, notwithstanding the enormous forces arrayed against them. "But there is another feature," he continued, "about the contest worthy of note. If the incumbent administration does not take some action looking to a recognition of the independence of Cuba, it is my opinion that President-elect McKinley will take that step immediately upon his inauguration as president."

"What would be the effect of such a step?"

"A declaration of war by Spain against the United States. It is true that such a war would be short lived, resulting disastrously to Spain, but it would afford Spain an opportunity, while losing Cuba, to uphold her national honor. She would be in a position to say that she was not overcome by the insurgents but by a superior power, the United States.

"It is one of the fundamental principles of the national honor of Spain that there shall be no surrender to any rebellion in her colonies, and, while she has lost those in America, the loss has been by purchase or by methods by which her national honor has not been jeopardized. Of course, in case of war with Spain the United States would demand an indemnity. That indemnity would be Cuba. And so you see Spain would not surrender Cuba to the insurgents, but to the United States.

"I can say this, that as our political campaign has been settled there will be a revival in the interest of Americans in Cuban affairs.

Train Wrecked by a Landslide.

MISSOULA, Mont., Nov. 11.—An express train on the Northern Pacific road was wrecked three miles east of Plains yesterday. The accident was caused by a landslide, into which the express plunged upon rounding a curve. The engine was thrown over on its side and four coaches were derailed. Engineer George Fairchild was instantly killed and Fireman Frank Waldon seriously injured.

Not one of the Turkish marauders were killed. Kaisarieh, the advices further state, has been thrown into a state of panic by the outrage.

Small Smiles.

Algernon (heaving a tremendious sigh)—"Ah, if these are not the pangs of love that I feel, pray what are they?"

Margaret—"Perhaps you are sitting on one of those nasty chestnut burrs?"—Washington Star.

"I'm sure I don't know," cried old Severpop. "I really don't konw what to do with you Henry. Is there anything good in you?"

"I think so, dad," replied Henry. "I've just eaten a piece of mince pie."—Harper's Bazar.

An elderly gentleman living in Mid-Lancashire was noted for his inebriety. On one occasion, when he had been imbibing pretty freely, he was met by the clergyman of the parish in which he lived.

"Drunk again, John!" said the pastor "So am I! So am I!" replied the truthful John, much to the amazement of his spiritual adviser.—Spare Moments.

You Have Waited for This.

There are many peopje who would be glad to abandon the habit of drinking coffee if they could only find some substitute for it. That substitute is Grain-O, made from pure grains and, in the opinion of those who have given it a thorough trial, a beverage in every way preferable to coffee. Grain-O is not a stimulant, it is something better It is cheering, nutriticus and strengthening. In other words it is a food-drink, as coffee is not. It is acceptable to the most delicate stomach, and agrees even with confirmed dyspeptics. Un like coffee Grain-O produces no nervous action. It never interferes with sleep. As for the flavor of Grain-O, people who use it say that after using it a week or two they like its taste better than that of coffee. Grain-O is sold by all grocers at 15c. and 25c per package. Try it.

Good Signs.

The march of business is onward and upward with every indication that the advance is going to be permanent. Public confidence, which was badly shaken previous to the presidential election, has already been largely restored and will no doubt continue to gain strength until its former status is re-established and the old time prosperity of the country is fully regained. Everybody is to be congratulated upon this fact which, though simple and natural, is of immense importance to all. Already the wheels of industry have been set revolving and there are calls for the help of many of those who for months have been in enforced idleness. In a word, the year 1896 is likely to close with a brilliant future in prospect. There will of course, not be an immediate full restoration of prosperity, but there cannot be a doubt that in course of a few months recuperation in business will be almost universal.

Municipal Woman Suffrage in Kansas.

The investment of Kansas women with municipal suffrage has brought to woman herself all gain and no loss. It is here demonstrated that we women who vote remain in present possession not only of all our "ancient privileges" but we have "rights" added thereto. Indeed, extra privileges and consideration and special attention are ours in consequence of our enfranchisement, particularly when election day is at hand.

The home has not suffered any loss by reason of our women taking part in the election of city officials. The blundering prejudice which stood out against woman's enfranchisement on the score of grief to come to home and children thereby, has been disarmed by the demonstration that voting is no more incompatible with washing little faces, sewing on buttons and sweeping floors than it is with merchandising, blacksmithing or farming. Woman suffrage in actual operation demonstrates that the exercise of the suffrage by women does not lessen mother love, diminish wifely devotion nor weaken woman's loyalty to home and its dearest interests.

Though women here are eligible to city offices on equal terms with men, only 15 of the nearly 300 mayors' chairs have been occupied by women in the 10 years of their enfranchisement. If women had held city offices in equal proportion with men about 1,500 women would have acted as mayors in Kansas during the last decade; but our women have not desired office and have been elected generally for some specific purpose.

When some violation of law has been endured far past the point of toleration, then, in at least a dozen cities, women have been put forward to perform a service from which men shrink as likely to "hurt their business" or as being an ungrateful task. As the "business" of women is mainly safeguarding their children they do not find the conducting of a city administration according to the laws of decency, sobriety and morality hurtful to their dearest interests. It is, therefore, that city governments are put into their hands, and they are known to have undertaken the duties of "public trust" with a proper sense of the responsibility and to have performed their work in excellent fashion.

Whether women poll their whole vote or not at every election, the fact that "they are there to do it" prevents the nomination of any except the most upright men who can be persuaded to accept the burden of municipal office.

Of course we have made mistakes in our choice of men at times, and the results in such cases were distinctly disappointing, but we have learned that high morality must needs be joined with executive ability and business experience to make an efficient city official We have come in contact with those difficulties which put a representative form of government to the test, and out of this widening of our knowledge and experience comes intenser loyalty and strengthening of that "patriotism of peace" which is to make for the salvation of our nation.

Scrofula

"In the spring of 1890 we first noticed a lump coming on the right side of our six-year-old boy's neck. We consulted our physician. He gave no name for the swelling, but told us to put on a blister. One person told us to use one thing and another another, but nothing proved of any avail. In May, 1891, I purchased a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and the child began taking it. About the middle of July the swelling broke and proved to be scrofula. We gave our son three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when he had taken this medicine the sore was healed, and the disease has been entirely driven from the system." W. C. Iron Bars Part Lovers.

New York, Nov. 11.—They were so young and innocent as they wandered yesterday through the big Sixth avenue dry goods store, hand in hand. They had eyes only for each other, ears only for the soft words of love they whispered. She was a fair young thing, with flaxen hair. He was a manly, broad shouldered fellow, in a store made suit.

The women at the bargain counter stopped to look.

"They've just been married, or are going to be," said the matron who was rummaging among the unconsidered trifles.

"I was in Arcadia once," sighed the angular woman with ringlets.

The lovers passed on, he tenderly holding her hand and she gazing trustfully into his eyes.

"Don't look," said the old gentleman who had come in with his wife. "This is almost sacred."

The store detective did look. He was an unromantic soul named Kasch, who had been a Tenderloin policeman. He says he saw the youth lift an umbrella from a rack and remove the price tag. He says that he saw him also fill his pockets with handkerchiefs, while the young woman kept a lookout from under her long lashes. Then the unromantic soul named Kasch, who had never been in Arcadia, seized the man by the collar and the woman by the arm and hurried them to a police station.

In the Jefferson Market police court the prisoners on Wednesday morning still looked upon each other with languishing affection. They had been languishing in prison cells.

of the nasal passages, is a fact established by physicians, and this authority should carry more weight than assertions of incompetent parties, that catarrh is a blood affection. Applied directly to the inflamed membrane, it restores it to its healthy condition.

Mill Hall's Big Parade.

Mill Hall will be ablaze with pyrotechnics and McKinley enthusiasm Friday night. The two bands from Lock Haven, the Salona band and the Lockport drum corps will furnish the music. The Lockport McKinley club, the Bald Eagle tribe, of Flemington, horsemen and wheelmen from Salona and Bellefonte and delegates from the surrounding towns in Bald Eagle and Nittany valleys will be present. A special train will be run from Bellefonte. There will also be bonfires and fireworks. T. M. Rosser is the chairman of the committee, and J. W. Crispen will be chief marshal.

EVERY-DAY TRIUMPHS.

Every Time Every Place, Every Where They Triumph There's Proof of this in Bellefonte.

Step by step onward. Day by day confidence increases. Success merits reward. Bellefonte people appreciate "a good thing." They praise it when they read it. No praise too great for the little conqueror. The little back-ache worker. Backs that ached, ache no more. Strength to weak backs has been restored. It's just the same as if they are lame. The lameness goes because it cannot stay. Bad backs are but bad kidneys. That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure them. They reach the spot. Easy to prove that this is so. Ask your neighbors.

Ask Mrs. Elizabeth Derr, High street. She will tell you all about her late trouble personally. Here is the gist of her experience: "I am not a young woman by any means and my health is not what it was at one time. For a number of years I have had kidney disease, which has caused an almost constant backache. The least exertion increased the pain. Contracting a cold had the same effect. I am troubled with my nerves and cannot sleep well as a rule, but when you add to it distressing pain in the loins rest at night is an impossibility. It struck me that Doan's Kidney Pills might help me and I went to F. Potts Green, the pharmacist and got a box. They greatly helped me. The first box made a decided change. The backache has left. I sleep much better and my appetite is slowly returning. I hold Doan's Kidney Pills in high estimation and only hope they will do as much good for others as they have done for me.

GIVE THEIR REASONS

For a New Insane Hospital for This Section of the State.

The Committee of the Medical Society of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to urge upon the legislature the urgent necessity of an hospital for the acute, the convalescent, the chronic and the epileptic insane of the counties of Cambria, Centre, Clearfield, Clinton, Bedford, Blair, Huntingdon, Indiana, Jefferson, Lycoming, Potter, Somerset and Tioga, have sent out memorials giving reasons why such an institution should be built and also giving vital statistics with reference to the insane.

One of the reasons given is that the yearly admissions to each hospital will average two hundred, and the discharges much less, making in each hospital at the lowest estimate, an addition of fifty. The ratio of mortality will be about one-fifth of the whole number under treatment during the year.

There are then three factors to be taken into consideration: The steady population of chronic cases, the yearly increase from those admitted who do not recover, and the number of acute cases which may be admitted.

Further on the committee gives the cost, keeping and curing of insane persons, and also present figures showing the advantages of treating the afflicted ones in a state hospital over that of maintaining them at home.

In closing, the memorial says: "The advantage and economy in every point of view of treatment in the early stages of the disease, the necessity of special provision of that treatment, the overcrowed condition of all the hospitals for the insane in this state, and the consequent inability of the citizens of the counties of Potter, Tioga, Lycoming, Centre, Clinton, Clearfield, Jefferson, Blair, Indiana, Cambria, Bedford, Somerset and Huntingdon, to secure admission for those of their fellow citizens who may become insane in the course of the year to come, and in subsequent years, the committee feel that they cannot too strongly urge upon your honorable body the necessity for the appointment of commissioners to select a site and build an hospital for the insane of these counties, which will be an ornament to the commonwealth and will confer untold benefit on this section of our beloved commonwealth."

WATCH YOUR BAD EGGS

As Their Sale May Cost You a Large Amount of Money.

According to a decision rendered by Alderman Brinker in Allegheny Thursday it will be a costly thing for retailers or wholesalers to sell bad eggs. Several weeks ago John Shannon of 227 East St. Allegheny, bought a crate of eggs from the Baltimore and Ohio Produce company, Water street. Shannon said he bought the eggs on the understanding that they were fresh, but when he sold them to customers the eggs were returned as bad, and he was asked to refund the money.

Shannon said he complained to M. Zillas and C. F. Smith proprietors of the Baltimore and Ohio Produce company about the eggs and refused to pay the bill; $7.20, when it was presented. The Baltimore and Ohio produce company sued Shannon for the amount of the bill, and the latter entered suit to recover against the company for having sold him impure food. The suit was entered by John Shannon for himself, the commonwealth of Pennsylvania and for the state food and dairy commissioners against M. Zillas and C. F. Smith, trading as the Baltimore and Ohio produce company. The defense alleged that Shannon had kept the eggs for two weeks before selling them. Shannon, however showed that he had disposed of them immediately, and brought witnesses to prove that the eggs were unfit for food. Alderman Brinker after hearing the evidence, gave a verdict of $100 in favor of Shannon.

This case is the first of its kind, and it opens up a wide field for ligitation. According to the decision the retailer can sue the wholesaler, the wholesaler the farmer and the consumer can sue the retailer.

Applied Humor.

From The Detroit Free Press.

She was in a merry mood when her husband came home that evening.

"You have often said, dear," she remarked affectionately, "that women haven't any sense of humor."

"They haven't."

"You don't give us the credit we deserve. I'll admit that my sense of humor is not very great. But any faculty can be developed with cultivation."

"Have you been cultivating your sense of humor?"

"Yes."

"How did you go about it?"

"Do you remember that article in the paper at which you laughed so heartily last night?"

"No. I don't undertake to remember everything that amuses me."

"Well, I got it and read it. It was about how a woman goes out and buys bargains all day long and surprises her husband with bills for bonnets and makes him get her a sealskin sacque whether he wants to or not."

"Yes; I recall it now. So you have been cultivating your sense of humor by reading that?"

"Oh, I didn't stop with simply reading it."

"What—what did you do?" he inquired in a voice that was hoarse with apprehension.

"I went out this afternoon and bought bargains, just as the woman in the article did, and here's the bill for the bonnet. All that is needed now to make the joke complete is for me to tease you for a sealskin sacque. And, don't you know, dear, I think it's all too delightfully funny for anything.

Consumption in its advanced stages is beyond power of man to cure It can be prevented, though, by timely use of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, nature's own remedy for coughs and colds.

STATE PLURALITY 301,606.

Nearly 1,200,000 Votes Polled for All the Candidates.

Official returns from a majority of the counties in Pennsylvania, and complete returns from those in which the official count has not yet been completed, give McKinley a plurality of 301,606, the vote being Republican, 726,823; Democratic, 425,217. The vote cast for the Palmer and Buckner ticket foots up only 10,878.

There were 19,000 votes for the Prohibition ticket and about 10,000 for the other candidates and "scattering" making a total of 1,191,918 votes in the State for all parties.

In Philadelphia McKinley's plurality was 113,774 in a total of 243,781. This exceeds the vote of 1892 by 243,781. Four years ago the total vote of this State was 1,0003,610 or 198,919 less than on Tuesday last.

The Unfortunate Texas.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The United States battleship Texas is now at the bottom of the Wallabout channel in Brooklyn, and there is every prospect that it will be several days before the vessel of war can be raised. She is as deep down in the water as the mud at the cob dock will permit. She is resting easily and is not a wreck, although it will take a great outlay to repair the damage done by the water in her hold and engine room. The accident happened while the vessel was undergoing slight repairs to the main injection pipe. Secretary Herbert has ordered an investigation.

Killed by Exploding Dynamite.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—A half box of dynamite stored in a shanty on Price street, Germantown, exploded yesterday, demolishing the building and killing Tony Brown, one of a gang of Italian laborers engaged in constructing a sewer. The force of the explosion was felt for miles around, the folk living in the remote sections of Chestnut Hill having believed that an earthquake had occurred. Near the scene of the accident all the windows of residences were shattered, and there is scarcely a house within a radius of half a mile but suffered to some extent.

HEVERLY-SAYLOR

A Very Pretty Wedding Which Took Place Last Evening at Seven.

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place last evening at the Catholic parsonage on Bishop street. The contracting parties were Miss Clair C. Saylor and Mr. Alfred J. Heverly both of Bellefonte. Promptly at the appointed hour, seven o'clock they took their places before Rev. Father P. McArdle, and the beautiful marriage service of the Catholic church was performed which made the happy pair one. The bride was dressed in brown with hat to match and looked very pretty. The groom was dressed in a neat fitting suit of brown and looked handsome and manly. Miss Mollie Flack acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Arthur Hull as groomsman both cousins of the bride. Immediately after the ceremony the wedding party were driven to the residence of the brides parents Mr. and Mrs. Harlum Saylor on Valentine street where a reception was held from seven until ten. A splendid wedding supper was served which was much enjoyed by the 35 guests present.

The bride is a pretty and accomplished young lady, whose bright and cheerful ways have won a host of friends for her in Bellefonte. For several years past she has been employed in this office as a compositor and was a faithful and conscientious worker whose place will be very hard to fill.

The groom is very popular being well known in Bellefonte. He is in the employ of A. G. Morris and is an industrious and temperate young man, one who will make a model husband for a model wife.

They were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents among which was a handsome parlor lamp with shade. The DAILY NEWS joins in wishing them much joy in their new life, and in the words of Rip Van Winkle. "May they live long and prosperous."

A TRIUMPH IN HYPNOTISM.

Prof. Day Entertains a Large Audience at Garman's Opera House Saturday Night.

A large and fashionable audience gathered at the Opera House, Saturday night, to witness the marvellous performance of Prof. Day, the modern hypnotist. Many came to scoff, but left convinced of the wonderful power of hypnotism.

The entertainment is one that will convulse you with laughter; at the same time you are filled with awe at the power displayed by the Professor over his subjects. There were over fifteen on the stage all under his control. They were made to do some very funny things; among others was a sparring match, also a base ball game which caused lots of fun. But one of the greatest things was the Hindoo sleep, the Professor agreeing to put all those to sleep in the audience who would give him their undivided attention. Three or four in the audience succumbed to this influence and the Professor had to go around through the house and awaken them.

THE Director of Institutes, Hon. John Hamilton, has secured representatives of the School of Agriculture of The Pennsylvania State College to assist at every Farmer's Institute to be held in the State during the coming winter. One representative will accompany each of the three sections into which the Institute force has been divided. He will carry with him specially prepared charts and diagrams illustrating the composition of feeding stuffs, the manure value of farm products the results of experiments with fertilizers, which fail to add greatly to the interest and profit of the Institutes. Copies of a spray calender and of a bulletin on the computation of rations for farm animals, prepared by the State Experiment station, will also be carried for free distribution.

The special representatives of the College are, for the northern counties, Dr. M. Frear; for the southeastern counties, Mr. E. H. Hess, all of whom are experienced Institute workers. Other members of the school of agriculture and of the experiment station will also attend when their other duties will permit.

BRADSTREET'S REPORT.

Lower Rates of Interest and Banks Show a Willingness to Make Loans.

New York, Nov., 6—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

The expected has happened in the success of the fight for sound money. The result is a return of confidence in the stability of values and in an early revival of demand for staples. Lower rates of interest and a willingness on the part of the banks to make loans which had previously been declined are additional evidences of the gold standard. Business was practically suspended throughout the country early this week, and there has been little increase in the volume since the election, compared with like periods in preceeding weeks. But manufacturers and jobbers are more inclined to purchase in advance instead of for nearby wants, and in a few lines, notably cotton, iron and steel, a large volume of purchases is reported. The merchants generally share the confidence in an early revival is indicated by hardening staple prices and the increase in quotations in addition before given in preceeding years. Sales of cotton goods have been freer and some mills are better employed. Woolen mills also report more orders and a tendancy to prefer higher cost goods.

Numerous industrial establishments, which have started up within two days, report being offered large orders if they would sell for 1897 delivery at present prices. Millions of dollars worth of general merchandise given contingent on the success of "sound money," are now being filled. Owing to the lateness of the season few have regarded the outlook as promising much in the nature of a boom during the current year. At a few northwestern commercial centres large orders have been received from country merchants within a few days, and in Georgia farmers have met their obligations this autumn more promptly than for years past, and southern merchants and manufacturers are reported as looking ahead confidently to a marked improvement in business in the near future.

Bank clearings totals continue below the billion dollar mark $995,000,000 for the past week, an increase of 3 per cent over last week, but a decrease of 12 per cent compared with the like total last year. Reactions in quotations are conspicuous only for Indian corn and lard, while prices for oats, pork, sugar and petroleum are firm and practically unchanged. Pig iron is 25 cents higher with sales of considerable amounts in western markets. Renewed demand for cotton goods and placing orders with mills advance print cloths. Cotton is higher, while wheat, under the strong stimulus of a strong statistical position, and, to an extent, the results of the election, report another marked advance.

The House and Senate.

New York, November 5—Some important changes were made in the list of congressmen probably elected by reports received last night and to-day. Reports received by the United Associate presses. up to noon to-day showed that the house of representatives in the fifty fifth congress will probably consist of 211 republicans and one sound money Democrat, 120, democrats and twenty-five populists, silver republicans and fusionists.

The status of the United States senate after the 4 of March next is still a matter of doubt. Present indications, however, are that the republicans will be compelled to seek recruits from those of their number who joined the free silver forces last spring or an alliance with sound money democrats to accomplish legislation, effecting either financial or tariff subjects. The senate in the fifty-fifth congress probably will be of; Gold republicans, 38; Gold Democrats, 8; silver republicans, 10; silver democrats, 25; populists, 9.

Hon. W. C. Arnold's majority in this, the Twenty-eighth congressional district, will be 1,200 in round numbers. By fraudulent voting which will probably be the cause of Chairman McEwin bringing some prosecutions, Elk is lost to him by 50 votes. Clarion and Forest counties are close together. Centre gives him a plurality of 119 and Clearfield county will give him 1,350.

It is his second contest in the old "Shoestring" district and his second victory, and, considering the Great Democratic majorities which it had always given, the successive victory proves Mr Arnold to be politically one of the strongest men in the State.

The whole strength of the opposition was brought to bear to compass his defeat in this second campaign, but it ingloriously failed.

Below will be found the pluralities by counties, Mr. Arnold's net plurality in the district. The figures are as nearly acurate as any can be had without the official count:

Clearfield 1350, for Arnold Centre, 119 for Arnold, Clarion 6[illegible]0 for Spangler, Elk 50 for Spangler, Forest 450 for Arnold. The District plurality being 1231, for Arnold.

Western Farmers Had the Silver Scales Removed From Their Eyes Before They Cast Their Votes For Electors—Mr. Hanna's Latest Claim.

New York, Nov. 5 —Mark Hanna arrived in this city this morning to wind up the affairs at the Republican national committee's headquarters. He first went to the Waldon, where he greeted his family and then hurried down to the headquarters. When seen he was in a rather talkative mood, and of course expressed his profound pleasure over the outcome of the election.

"From the very start," he said, "I was confident of the outcome of the election. I never for a moment doubted the result. The minimum vote McKinley can have in the electoral college is 265 and I think 286 is a conservative estimate. Senator Jones' claims that he has carried Indiana and other of our states, and that Bryan is elected are absurd. I was much pleased with the result in New York city."

"How do you account for the heavy vote for McKinley in the western farming districts?"

"Many western farmers were misled about our attitude. They confused gold monometalism and the gold standard, and were in many cases led to believe that the gold standard for which we have fought meant we would use gold money, and that silver money would go out of use. When they learned that under the gold standard we would continue using silver as we do today their ideas changed and they deserted the free silver cause."

"Do you think the boom in business will continue?"

"I do. I see that the market is up from 6 to 12 points, I think it will stay there. Of course, there will be fluctuations in speculative stocks, but the general tendency is for a betterment of conditions."

'Do you regard the silver issue as dead?"

"We are seeing the beginning of the end. We have a good sound money majority in congress, and the silver men will not be able to obstruct legislation."

"What do you think Mr. McKinley's present idea is of the tariff?'

"Major McKinley's ideas on the tariff, which may give a clue to what he will endeavor to accomplish, were best expressed by him in his speech of February 12. He illustrates his views by an anecdote of Lincoln. It seems that Mr. Lincoln was asked how long a man's legs ought to be. He replied that he had long pondered over that question, and finally concluded that a man's legs ought to be long enough to reach from his body to the ground. Major McKinley's idea of what a tariff ought to be is on a par with this. According to his own speech he believes that we should have sufficient for revenue and to protect American labor against pauper labor of Europe, and to allow capital a fair remuneration."

Vice Presidential Candidate Garrett A. Hobart dropped into Republican headquarters at 4 o'clock. He and Mr. Hanna had a very warm handshake and they exchanged mutual congratulations over the result of the election. All the executive committeemen present also congratulated Mr. Hobart and hailed him as vice president-elect.

Mr. Hobart was closeted with Mr. Hanna for a long time, discussing the results of the election. He had nothing to say for publication.

Mr. Manley said later that Hanna's statement was absolutely correct and that 265 was the maximum number of electoral votes McKinley would have. Mr. Manley leaves for home to-morrow.

Chairman Hanna was asked upon what grounds he based his claim to one electoral vote in Wyoming for McKinley. Mr. Hanna replied; "Our claim is based on a telegram we received this afternoon from United States Senator Warren of Wyoming, stating that we were absolutely sure of one electoral vote and that in all probability we will also get the other two."

"Another most significant fact of the victory is that McKinley's and Hobart's election has been secured by a plurality of over 1,000,000 of the popular vote the largest ever given.

"I am confident that we shall secure the other two electors in Wyoming and the thirteen in in Kentucky and North Carolina's eleven votes which are in doubt.

"The importance to the country otf his result cannot be overestimated and is a matter of congratulation to all loyal and patriotic citizens of the United States. Incendiary utterances and pretended claims which question the accuracy of this statement should not disturb the public mind."

[Signed] M. A. HANNA,
Chairman.

AS LEVERING SEES IT.

The Money Question, the Prohibition Candidate Thinks, Has Been Emphatically Settled.

Baltimore November 5.—Joshua Levering, the Prohibition candidate for President of the United States, was this morning asked his views as to the results of yesterday's election.

"I think it settles for good," he said, "the question as to the sort of money standard which shall be used in this country. It seems to me that the verdict is so emphatic that the question cannot longer be considered open. There will be a return of business confidence, but whether there will be an immediate improvement in business I cannot say. There are factors other than that of the money standard which nter into the problem.

"I think that yesterday's victory will help the Prohibition cause materially. The breaking up of parties which has occurred this year cannot fail to be of advantage to the cause of temperance. The voter will feel free in future to go in any direction he chooses. From intelligence which we have from various sources, I believe that the people are ready to do away with the liquor evil as embodied in the legalized saloon. They are ready to assert their belief that the saloon is a nuisance inimical to the best interest of the country.

"The educational feature of the campaign which has just closed is as remarkable as it is gratifying. The result would show that there cannot in future be that fealty to party which heretofore amounted to idolatry-at least, not for years to come. That is a good omen.

"I cannot say as to the absolute gain or loss in votes sustained by the Prohibition party. We did not expect much of a gain. but it wil be advantageous to us in the way in which I indicated."

A Fight on Beaver Street.

Quite an excitement was raised on Beaver street this morning about eleven o'clock and a terrible tragedy was averted by the timely interference of Dr. R. G. Hayes.

It seems that Johnny Colwell and Benjamin Houseal have not been on very good terms for some time, and this morning they got to argueing politics, with the result that they soon came to blows. They both carry canes which they used with good effect. Mr. Colwell was pretty badly used up. His neck was cut, eye blacked and his head was a mass of bruises. Mr. Houseal knocked Colwell down and then jumped on him, and but for the interference of Dr. Hayes the result would have been fatal. Mr. Colwell is 78 years old and Mr. Houseal 82.

A warrant was issued at noon and Mr. Houseal was placed under arrest to answer to the charge of assault and battery.

—Canada will eat its Thanksgiving turkey on the same day with Uncle Sam this year. THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

President Cleveland Bids the Whole Nation Rejoice on Nov. 26.

Washington, Nov. 4.—The President to-day issued the following proclamation:

By the President of the United States.

"The people of the United States States should never be unmindful of the gratitude they owe the God of Nations for his watchful care which has shielded them from dire disaster and pointed out to them the way of peace and happiness. Nor should they ever refuse to acknowledge with contrite hearts their proneness to turn away from God's blessings and follow with sinful pride after their own devices.

"To the end that these thoughts may be quickened, it is fitting that on a day especially appointed, we should join together in approaching the Throne of Grace with praise and supplication.

"Therefore I, Grover Cleveland, President of the United States, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday the Twenty-Sixth day of the present month of November to be kept and observed as a day of thanksgiving and prayer throughout our land.

"On that day let all our people forego their usual work and occupation and, assemble in their accustomed places of worship, let them with one accord render thanks to the ruler of the Universe for our preservation as a Nation and our deliverance from every threatened danger; for the peace that dwelleth within our boundries and for our defense against disease and pestilence during the year that has passed; for the plenteous rewards that have followed the labors of our husbandmen, and for all the other blessings that have been vouchsafed to us.

"And let us, through the meditation of Him who has taught us how to pray, implore the forgiveness of our sins and a continuation of Heavenly favor. Let us not forget on this day of thanksgiving the poor and needy, and by deeds of charity let our offsprings of praise be made more acceptable in the sight of the Lord.

Witness my hand and Seal of the United States which I have caused to be hereto affixed. Done at the City of Washington this Fourth day of November in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Ninty-Six, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and twenty-first.

THE CURE OF PARALYSIS

The Case of a Veteran Cited Whose Paralysis Came from Exposure in the Army.

The Equally Interesting Method of His Cure, and His Enthusiastic Endorsement.

From the Otsego Farmer, Cooperstown, N. Y.

In the town of Oneonta, in Otsego County, New York, for a great many years there has lived a man whose life has been overshadowed by that terrible disease, paralysis. Recently it was rumored that a miracle had been performed—that this man had been restored to his normal health and strength and to ascertain the truth or falsity of such a rumor your correspondent visited Oneonta to-day and being directed to the man sought an interview with him, which was readily and cheerfully granted. The man told his own story as follows:

"My name is Edward Haswell. You would not think from my appearance, but I was born 77 years ago, in New Scotland, Albany County. I was reared on a farm and blessed by Nature with a strong constitution and good health. Early in life I removed to Albany, thence to Schenevus, in this county, and finally settled down in Oneonta, where I have lived a great many years.

"When the war broke out I was strong and active, being nearly six feet tall and weighing 225 pounds. I enlisted in the Third New York Cavalry and served three years. Of the long, weary marches, especially in North Carolina of the days and nights of exposure I will not speak, for it was in the barracks at Washington that my misery began. While there heavy rains fell and not having sufficient protection ofttimes we awoke in the morning drenched with the rain. At this time I contracted a cold and along with it came that dread disease, rheumatism. I rapidly grew worse and was removed to the hospital where I was attended by Dr. Leonard, now of Worcester in this county. He made me as comfortable as any man could, but I could not shake off the disease. It was in my system and after my return home with impaired health and strength reduced, my nerves gave out and additional suffering ensued. I could move around and was able to do some work—at length I went to work in the car shops here, inside work wholly—but the least exposure would bring on terrible pains and life was made miserable for me. After a few years my strength gave out and I was unable to fight against my pains. In addition to the rheumatism extreme nervousness took possession of me—then heart disease set in; I could not lie down to sleep and was brought very low by this complication of diseases. My wrists and ankles became swollen, my legs distorted and my hips sunken, now you can feel the cavities, also thrust your hand into my back—such were the ravages of rheumatism.

"But this was not all. About six years ago I had a stroke of paralysis which affected my left side—but by extra care I recovered somewhat from this. Three years ago I had a second stroke which rendered me entirely helpless. My left side was wholly useless and I could not feel it when a pin was thrust full length into my leg or arm. Before paralysis set in I thought I was nigh to death, but now came the horror of a living death. On account of my heart trouble which was aggravated by this new disease, I could not sleep and could be placed only in one position—bolstered up in a chair reclining slightly on my right side. Now the paralysis affected my head and I would remain in that position asleep in the chair for weeks at a time without awakening. Words cannot express the misery I was in and the suffering I endured. All this time I consulted doctors and tried all kinds of patent medicines without receiving any benefit. I was doomed to a lingering death and was in despair. One day a paper was handed me to read. In the paper I saw an account of the healing of a paralytic who used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I had no faith in patent medicines, I had spent over $200.00 in them, all to no purpose. Unable to work I had no income save a pension of $8.00 per month. But some way I was impressed with what Pink Pills had done and determined to give them a fair trial. I did not stop with one box but used three boxes before I noticed any effect. After taking three boxes I felt a change coming over me. I kept on taking Pink Pills and kept on feeling better. Gradually my pain left me, I began to feel new life course through my body and to my surprise and delight, feeling began to come into my side and life and strength into my leg and arm. After taking fourteen boxes I had recovered full use of my limbs, my rheumatism was gone and my heart trouble relieved. During my sickness my weight had decreased from 225 pounds to 144 pounds, but to-day I weigh 170 pounds, am strong and active and you would not take me to be 77 years old."

While speaking, Mr. Haswell showed considerable emotion and when questioned he added: "I cannot say too much in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I cannot express my gratitude to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, they saved my life and gave me back health I had not enjoyed for over 30 years."

When told that people might not believe such a story in print, he said: "I am willing to go before a Justice of Peace and swear to its truth, if you wish, and I shall be only too glad to answer inquiries anyone may wish to make."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are an unfailing remedy for all diseases arising from a poor and watery condition of the blood, such as pale and sallow complexion, general muscular weakness, loss of appetite, depression of spirits, lack of ambition, anæmia, chlorosis or green sickness, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath on slight exertion, coldness of hands or feet, swelling of the feet and limbs, pain in the back, nervous headache, dizziness, loss of memory, feebleness of will, ringing in the ears, early decay, all forms of female weakness, leucorrhœa, tardy or irregular periods, suppression of menses, hysteria, paralysis, locomotor ataxia, rheumatism, sciatica, all diseases depending on vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, swelled glands, fever sores, white hip-joint diseases, hunchback, consumption deformities, decayed bones, chronic consumption, catarrh, consumption of the bowels, and also for invigorating the blood and restoring when broken down by overwork, worry, disease, excesses and indiscretions of whatever nature, recovery from acute diseases, such as fevers, etc., loss of vital powers, spermatorrhœa, early decay, premature old age. These pills are not a purgative medicine. They contain nothing that could injure the most delicate system. They act directly on the blood, supplying to the blood its life-giving qualities by assisting it to absorb oxygen, that great supporter of all organic life. In this way the blood, becoming "built up" and being supplied with its lacking constituents, becomes rich and red, nourishes the various organs, stimulating them to activity in the performance of their functions, and thus to eliminate diseases from the system.

These Pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold only in boxes bearing the firm's trade mark and wrapper, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, and are never sold in bulk. They may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company. The price at which these pills are sold makes a course of treatment inexpensive as compared with other remedies.

BRUIN IN A SCHOOL HOUSE.

A Big Bear Frightens Brown Township Pupils.

A great big black bear, desirous of learning more of the ways of mortals, on Wednesday afternoon wandered into the clearing in which is situated the little school house in Brown township. All around the hall of learning is a great wilderness, and the old pike road leading to Pine creek and thence to Williamsport is the only sign of civilization for some distance each way. When Bruin trundled into the clearing it was about 2 o'clock and basking in the rays of Old Sol, he heard the hum of the little children's voices and the sharp reprimands of the teacher from the busy hive within the door. This aroused Mr. Bear's curiosity, and overcoming inborn instinct and fear of mortals, he entered the room, through the door, which stood ajar, and found his way up the main aisle to the teacher's desk, emitting grunts at the pupils. At the sight, of the fierce looking beast the little boys and girls, 20 in all, became terribly frightened and with howls of terror fled to the door.

Meanwhile his bearship surveyed the spectacle with unalloyed pleasure, and with his little blinking eyes twinkling with pleasure

MADE FOR THE TEACHER.

Miss Lulu Bearer, who with great presence of mind grabbed her book and spectacles and made for the door. The bear followed, but the plucky school marm eluded his clutches by dodging around desks, of which Bruin ran afoul. With a final plunge Miss Bearer reached the door and slammed it to, leaving Mr. Bear a prisoner. Outside she found the children and quelled their fears as two lusty woodsmen came swinging along down the pike. Miss Bearer informed the men of her unique capture and they readily consented to slay the bear Entering the school room armed with their gleaming axes, they succeeded in despatching Bruin after a desperate struggle. The bear weighed 250 pounds dressed, and the hide will be presented to Miss Bearer for her plucky conduct.

A Change Probable.

For years the holding of the Teachers' Institute in Bellefonte was an assured thing, but there is a move on foot among some of the teachers to have the session held in Philipsburg, and we understand the measure is under consideration. It is claimed that the citizens are unresponsive and unappreciative of the Institue, and that a change to Philipsburg would not be detrimental. Philipsburg is putting up some good claims but being at the extreme end of the county the location is the only factor against them. A decade back it was customary to hold the Institute in a different town each year, but that was departed from and Bellefonte was the only point selected.

We take the above from the Centre Hall Reporter, but must take issue with it. Their logic is bad and their reasoning not founded on facts. Bellefonte is the centre of the county, easily reached, and much more suitable for holding the Institute in than Philipsburg. We would like to know in what respect Bellefonte is "unresponsive and unappreciative." The Institute is always crowded and the teachers given a cordial welcome.

—In a personal which we published a day or two ago we stated that Andy Knicely was running a branch bakery for Joseph Ceader at Tyrone. This was a mistake, as Mr. Ceader is not in any way connected with the Tyrone bakery. Mr. Andy Knicely is one of the proprietors at that place, and the DAILY NEWS congratulates him on his enterprise and wishes him much success.

His Experience.

From the Washington Star.

"Gentlemen," said the man with frank blue eyes "some people would be disposed to doubt some of the stories that you have been telling about the freaks of a wild storm. But I don't. The man who told how the wind took the roofs off his and a neighbor's houses exchanged them and nailed them down has my unlimited confidence."

"It's every word true," said the individual alluded to.

"Neither do I doubt the word of the man who asserts that the tornado pinned a lot of Bryan buttons on the coat lapels of pedestrians, I have had an experience which will not permit me to be sceptical."

"What was it?"

"I wouldn't tell it in any company but this, where I know it will be appreciated."

"Did you have a house blown down?"

"No. That wouldn't be anything extraordinary I hadn't any house to blow down. I have been living at a hotel, waiting for my new residence in the country to be completed. All the material was lying out on the lot, and the plans were in a toolhouse near by. When I went to look at the place this morning I found that the wind had broken open the tool house, secured the plans built the whole house, cleaned the windows and satarted a fire in the kitchen range."

Five Men Held for Murder.

Huntingdon November 10.—The inquest over the body of Peter Venzelona, the Italian murdered at Robertsdale early Sunday morning, was conducted in the school house at that place yesterday. Coroner Greenberg examined about fifteen witnesses on this occasion. The jury rendered a verdict which, in substance is that Venzelona met his death by violence at the hands of Aixi, Louis and Damien Cerise, Laurent Cheraz and Venance Chellio.

The trial of the defendants will likely be a difficult one, for the smattering of the mixture of the Italian and French languages is so hard to comprehend. The use of interpreters is an absolute necessity.

A Successful Engagement Closed.

Prof. Day closed a very successful engagement Tuesday at Garman's Opera House before a large and fashionable audience. He opened last Tuesday evening under very unfavorable circumstances, it being election night. His audience, therefore, was small, but they grew larger every night until they taxed the capacity of the Opera House to its utmost.

There were fourteen subjects on the stage last evening and every one under the perfect control of the Professor. They were made to do some very funny things and the audience was kept in a continual roar of laughter. The circus act was very amusing. The Professor made his subjects believe they were in a big circus tent, and had them selling lemonade, cigars, side show and concert tickets until you would almost imagine you were in a show tent. At another time he made them believe that their pockets were full of molasses. The Professor also repeated the Hindoo sleep and succeeded in sending about fifteen of his audience into the land of nod.

The Professor's wife ably assisted him and succeeded in gaining perfect control over her subjects. She was also placed under the hypnotic influence by her husband and sang in a sweet voice that grand old song "Ben Bolt."

Space will not admit of us publish one-half the good things on the program, but everyone present enjoyed a good laugh and went away entirely satisfied with their evening's entertainment. Should Professor Day return to our city at some future date, as it is expected he will, the Opera House will not hold the crowds that will want to see this wonderful man.

WANTED—SEVERAL FAITHFUL MEN or women to travel for responsible established house in Pennsylvania. Salary, $780, payable $15 weekly and expenses. Position permanent. Reference. Enclose self-addressed stamped envelope. The National, Star Building, Chicago.

Miller Will Contest.

Papers were filed by A. V. Miller this morning, to contest the election of W. P. Cronister as Sheriff of Centre county. As Cronisters majority is very small, and as Miller is said to have strong grounds to base his claim on, it will no doubt be a very exciting case. It is claimed that in several precincts, there were more votes counted for Cronister, than there were voters in the precincts. Also that in Snow Shoe township thirty votes for Miller were thrown out which should have been counted for him.

The method of proceedure in an election case is as follows! A commissioner will be appointed by the court and testimoney will be taken before a Notary Public. At the conclusion of the testimoney, the decision is left in the hands of the Judge of the court of Common Pleas.

A New Departure at the Academy

A very interesting and profitable feature of the work at the Bellefonte Academy this year will be the singing school, conducted by Miss Helen Overton. This delightful exercise was inaugurated Tuesday afternoon, when a very large majority of the pupils remained at 4 o'clock to take their first half hour lesson. No charge will be made for the instruction, while every effort will be made to interest every student in this too often neglected subject of music. The Academy students may well congratulate themselves on the opportunity set before them.

The Nittany Valley Fire.

The fire which destroyed the house, barn and outbuildings, of John Dolan, at Jacksonville last Sunday afternoon, entailed a loss of $5,000 with no insurance. The first report out that a daughter of Mr. Dolan had perished in the flames was found to be a mistake. The family all escaped from the burning building but not without difficulty.

"TWIN TOWNS" RATIFY.

A Great Time at Beech Creek and Eagleville Last Night.

Lock Haven Express. The enthusiastic residents of the twin towns Beech Creek, this county, and Eagleville Centre county over the result of the recent election reached a climax last night when a grand ratification demonstration was held, and an ox which had been roasted whole, was served to the hundreds of voters, who marched in parade through the principal streets of the town carrying lighted torches, singing and shouting or joy over the election of their standard bearers and the bright prospects of the speedy return of prosperity and good times. Preparations for the demonstration were begun several days ago, under the leadership of prominent men in the two boroughs. Torches were procured, floats rigged up and the ox for the feast secured. The roasting process was conducted under the supervision of Henry Williams and was begun at 12 o'clock Monday night. The carcass of the ox was suspended on a pole about four feet from the ground, the ends of the poles resting on posts and a big fire of blazing coke furnished the heat. The pole was kept turning by the force who had charge of the roasting and when the time came for serving the meat it was "done to a turn" as the cooks say.

The parade formed in Eagleville with Captain James A. Quigley of that place, Captain Samuel and Robert Rudy, of Beech Creek as chief marshals. There were fully a thousand men in line. There were numerous floats, a steam traction engine, many carriages, wagons and a great display of transparencies. There were no offensive inscriptions on the transparencies but many of them were significant and full of meaning. After parading through the streets of Eagleville the procession proceeded to Beech Creek where the side-walks were crowded with people who were anxiously awaiting the arrival of the "Ratifiers." The Linn brothers drum corps headed the line and filled the air with martial music.

The Howard cornet band was also in the parade together with the several glee clubs and burlesque drum corps. A large boat on wheels representing a Salt river craft, was well gotten up and fairly illustrated the plight in which the free silver men find themselves to-day.

It was a great demonstration and would have been a creditable display in a town many times larger than Beech Creek or Eagleville.

The houses and business places in both towns were beautifully decorated and brilliantly illuminated.

After the feast had been served brief addresses were made by John A. Daley and Clarence Daley, of Romola, Centre county and by Prof. Isaac A. Harvey and E. S. Mobley, of Beech Creek.

A vote of thanks was extended to Thomas Furst as the originator of the ratification, also to Henry Williams and his assistants, Harry Fearon and others who so successfully roasted the ox.

The traction engine in the parade belonged to Frank Kessiner and was emblematical of the starting up of the machinery in the United States. The engine pulled a wagon filled with ladies who were singing Republican songs.

He May Come Here.

The people, and clergymen especially, are warned against a young man, five feet eight inches tall, light complexion, blue eyes, sandy hair, receding forehead, and several teeth out of the upper jaw, and a light moustache, speaks with a slight German accent, who is going from place to place and from preacher to preacher, borrowing money, representing himself as a church member of any denomination he can use for his fraudulent purpose and using different preachers' names as recommendations. Last week he was caught in his game by two citizens on whom he had imposed and both of them chased him out of Shamokin but being fleet of foot he got away. He is very slick on the tongue and calculated to deceive an angel. Let all persons look out for him as he is a fraud of the first water. Lock Haven Democrat.

Death of Jacob Roop.

Jacob Roop, who has been making his home with his son-in-law C. H. Rush, on Tenth street, Philipsburg, died last night about half past eleven o'clock, the result of quick consumption and the infirmities incident to old age. He was 76 years 8 months and 21 days. The deceased was a member of the Presbyterian church, and a most estimable gentleman. His remains will be taken to Unionville on Friday for burial, leaving Philipsburg on the early train.

—Joseph M. Belford of Riverhead New York, has been elected to congress with a plurality in his district of 1100. He was a former resident of Bellefonte whom many will remember.
